

For parents

Be bold and brave when teaching your child about money.

Consider letting your child manage aspects of your money - perhaps you can ask them to write a shopping list with a limited budget.